I am happy to report that the subscriptions for Antique Radio Classified are now coming in at a steady rate. With my promotional efforts and the help of you, my subscribers, the outlook for continuation of this publication is becoming more assured. However, this doesn't mean we can slack off on our efforts to increase subscribers. I don't like to beat this subject into the ground, but again I stress the huge cost in bringing you this publication. If you like Antique Radio Classified and would like to see it continue then I need your support. If each subscriber could get one other collector to subscribe, then success of this publication could be assured. The idea behind this publication is supposed to be a national unified gathering of collectors in the hobby, thus enabling each person to reach the majority of other collectors with his classified ad. Until this goal is reached, the future of A.R.C. is in doubt. The answer is you and your efforts to promote A.R.C. to your collector friends! Tell other collectors you know about this publication, the goals we are trying to achieve, and the benefits they will receive. With your help A.R.C. will grow...!

QUESTIONS FROM READERS: Question - Some of us "old timers" are having a hard time reading the small print, what can be done? Answer - I have just purchased a $400 modem which will enable me to transmit my text from my computer to my printer for typesetting. Portions of this issue, including this page, has been typeset. Your comments on type size and readability will be appreciated. Continuation of typesetting in future issues will depend upon cost. This is just another added cost in doing this publication that has to be covered by subscriptions. Question - Why don't you mail A.R.C. in a protective envelope? Answer - Very simple, the costs are too great. At present A.R.C. weighs 0.9 ounces, an envelope would push the weight past 1 ounce and necessitate a 37 cent first class stamp. That alone, plus the cost of envelopes, makes this a several thousand dollars increase in mailing cost over one year! To add to this problem, postal rates are going up in 1985. Perhaps we may have to go 2nd class mailings. Any suggestions?

TIDBITS: In some of the antique publications there has been a few radio related articles recently. In Joel Sater's Antique News, September 7th issue, the microphone collection of Bob Paquette was featured on the front cover. An interesting article along with photos of his collection were featured. Bob is a subscriber of A.R.C. and is looking for unusual microphones to add to his museum. An article in the Tri-State Trader wrote about the new interest in collecting medical memorabilia and electrical equipment. Watch the flea markets for this stuff, some of the old electrical equipment is very interesting. In another issue of the Tri-State Trader a small article presented the story of Bakelite radios selling in a New York show for $350 to $850 each. I assume there must of been something special about them! And finally, an ad in Antique Trader offering a Blue Glass Sparton Radio console, Nocturne Model 1186, for $25,000. If you're interested I will give you the phone number.

I am in the process of ordering custom imprinted binders for the storage of A.R.C. monthly issues. The binders will be 6 x 9" in size with 18 vinyl pages to store 18 issues of radio publications. The printing on the binder will be "generic" in nature to allow other 5 1/2 x 8 1/2" publications to be stored such as bulletins from A.W.A., A.R.C.A., C.H.R.S., S.C.A.R.S., I.H.R.S., N.F.W.A., and others. I need at least 100 interested people to make it practical, so if you are interested let me know soon, along with your ideas of the wording you would like to see on the cover of the binder. The cost depends on quantity ordered, but at quantities of 50 binders the cost is about $9.50 each plus shipping cost. Exact cost will be stated in a later issue.

In the November issue we started a column called the Crosley Review. I hope you found this column informative. Please let myself or Dave know what you feel about it and what improvements can be made to it. Also please let our other contributors hear from you with questions or comments about their columns. We are here to serve you, but we need your feed-back to help us get better and grow.

In the June sample issue I asked for readers to write about their thoughts for a "Scale of Condition" to be used for advertising radios for sale. Have received several replies, but need more to get an average view of what collectors feel constitutes an Excellent, Very Good, Good, Fair, or Poor radio.

As an incentive to present subscribers, I am offering to run your "radio business card" for one time free for each new subscriber you send in to me. This is a $3.25 value, so why not take advantage of it. Support Antique Radio Classified and help us grow... GB5.

COLLECTORS CORNER

CONTRIBUTED BY: FRANK HEATHCOTE, 1235 N. 3RD ST., LOGANSPORT, INDIANA 46947

The 'Collectors Corner' will appear as a regular feature of Antique Radio Classified. It is an attempt to build knowledge and interest of radio collectors primarily in AC home receivers of the late 20's to the 1940's, with emphasis on the lesser known and more unusual styles and brands. Helpful restoration hints will be given where possible. Any questions, comments, or suggestions on this column, the radios featured, or on any other radios may be sent to Frank Heathcote, 1235 N. 3rd St., Logansport, Indiana 46947. Please include a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Many small firms did some rather innovative work in the early years of radio. Not always did the innovations catch on, making most of these sets very rare now. One of these sets is featured this month. This set predated the universal AC-DC sets by a couple of years.

The Nathaniel Baldwin model 40 'Universal Portable' was introduced in the June 1930 Radio Retailing Magazine, a product of Nathaniel Baldwin, 1601 South Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

Better known for their speakers and headphones, the model 40 was one of the most outstanding items of the sensational Nathaniel Baldwin line. The other items were the model 70, 7 tube 'Consolette' at $129.50; the model 50, 5 tube 'Baldwinette' midget set at $99.50; and the unusual model 75 'Hydaway', a 7 tube set in a plain wooden box "made to be hidden away in a bookcase, under a davenport, or in some other out of the way place". Its $119.50 price included the $35 Nathaniel Baldwin remote control kit but no speaker. The model 26 dynamic speaker was available for another $35. The remote control was optional on the Baldwinette and Consolette for $30.

The 8 tube "Universal Portable" retailed at $79.50. It could be plugged into any 110 volt line, irrespective of type of current or cycle pulsations, without any changes. When used in conjunction with a Nathaniel Baldwin step up converter, it could be operated in automobiles directly from the 6 volt battery.

Type 24 tubes are used in the 2 RF stages; one tuned, one untuned, and volume is controlled by varying the screen grid voltage of the RF tubes. The remaining six tubes are all type 27's. One is used in the detector stage, transformer coupled to the first audio stage, which is transformer coupled to a push-pull audio stage driving a specially designed magnetic speaker. The two remaining 27's are paralleled as a 1/2 wave rectifier. The filaments are all connected in series with the line voltage being dropped by a 58 ohm resistor with a tap at a 1/2 ohm for a dial light.

NATHANIAL BALDWIN MODEL 40

The cabinet is leatherette covered plywood and is 18-1/2" long, 11" high, and 10" deep. The set weighs 19 pounds.

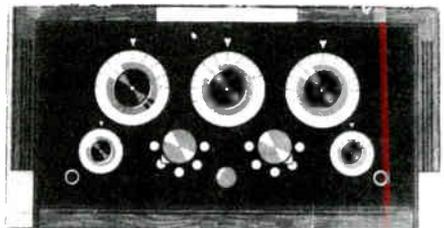

Surprisingly, the Baldwin model 40 is a pretty good working set although reproduction is not the greatest of quality due to its magnetic speaker. With its 15" long line dropping resistor, the set draws over 200 watts and the heat given off by the resistor is enough to warm a small room, making the set a nice radio/heater combination which was probably an industry first.

Next month will feature the 1930 Pilot MIDGET, the first factory assembled Pilot radio.

COLLECTING RADIO NOVELTIES

As Christmas is rapidly approaching, I thought you might be interested in seeing what the radio fans of the 1920's had on their Christmas shopping list. The photos below show board games with the themes all being radio related. As a collector who specializes in radio related novelties, I found collecting this series of board games quite a challenge. Perhaps there is a "Santa" out there who has a different one to put in my stocking (collection)!

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

COLLECTORS VALUE GUIDE

CONTRIBUTED BY: JAMES KREUZER, 257 HASTINGS, BUFFALO, N.Y. 14215

Recently, while talking on the phone to a well-known collector from Michigan, he expressed his displeasure at seeing a monthly list of prices for antique radios. His main argument was not that the prices were out of line, but that the common antique dealer would obtain the list, and we wouldn't be able to purchase any more $15 Crosley Pups from them.

I disagreed with him that the general public won't have access to the list because all the subscribers to Antique Radio Classified are collectors and not "full time dealers". He also pointed out that other publications (i.e. Antique Trader, etc.) would copy my list in their publications. He suggested that I copyright each list so it is protected and can't be copied without my permission. I have decided to follow his idea, so from this issue on, they will be copyrighted, and can't be copied without my permission.

This column is printed not only with the new collector in mind, but also with the more experienced collector, so he can keep up with current trends, and to help him realize what some gear that he usually doesn't associate with is worth.

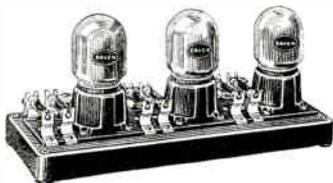

Any comments, pro or con, are appreciated and will be answered. Happy Pickins!...James Kreuzer-KA2GLS, Felicia Kreuzer-KA2GLX...Copyright 1984

CROSLLEY REVIEW

CONTRIBUTED BY: DAVID CROCKER, 6 OLD FARM RD., DUXBURY, MASS. 02332

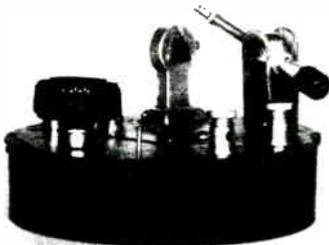

Of all the radio manufacturers, one of the most popular with collectors is the Crosley Radio Corporation. Due to this wide-spread interest, Antique Radio Classified in cooperation with Dave Crocker, a Crosley specialist, will present a series of articles showing the many models of Crosleys manufactured. This will help assist the collector in identifying the many types of Crosleys made, as well as increasing ones' knowledge on the subject. Any comments or questions concerning this column should be directed to Dave with a S.A.S.E. for reply. See address above.

THE CROSLLEY MODEL IV (FOUR) WAS A 2-STAGE AMPLIFIER THAT SOLD FOR $20 IN LATE 1923. IT WAS DESIGNED TO PAIR UP WITH CROSLLEY'S MODEL V (AND LATER MODEL 51) AND SHARED THE SAME CABINETS... AND WAS IDENTICAL TO ITS COUSIN, THE ACE 2-B.

CROSLLEY'S EARLY VERSION MODEL VI (SIX) WAS A 2-TUBE TRF RECEIVER USING TWO WOODEN "BOOK" CONDENSERS. IN REALITY, IT IS THE RFTA AND HARKO SR. COMBINATION IN ONE CABINET. IT SOLD FOR $28 WITHOUT TUBES, BATTERIES OR PHONES IN LATE 1922. THIS PARTICULAR MODEL VI IS IN THE "SPECIAL" CABINET WITH ROOM FOR DRY CELL BATTERIES.

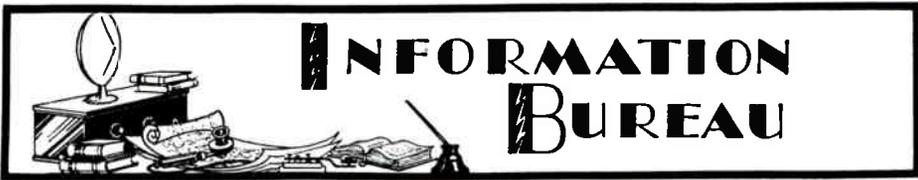

WHEN CROSLLEY REDESIGNED HIS TAPPED DRUM COIL WITH THE SMALLER, FLATTER SPIDERWEB TYPE, IT ALLOWED CONSTRUCTION OF HIS SMALLEST CRYSTAL RECEIVER, THE 1923/24 "CROSLLEY JUNIOR". WITH ULTRA-SIMPLE CONSTRUCTION AND A CHANCE TO USE UP SURPLUS PARTS, WAS TOO GOOD FOR POWELL CROSLLEY TO PASS UP. PRICE IS UNKNOWN, AS IT WAS ADVERTISED LITTLE, IF AT ALL AND REMAINS A MISTERY.

IN LATE 1923 THE MODEL VI WAS SOLD IN THE MORE COMMON CABINET WITH THE FAMILAR TUNING DIALS. INSIDE THE TRF CIRCUIT WAS UPDATED WITH THE SPIDERWEB-TYPE COILS INSTEAD OF THE DRUM TYPE. MOLDED RUBBER SOCKETS REPLACED PORCELAIN ONES, AND THERE WERE TWO LESS TAP SWITCH STOPS, ALL FOR $30.

Philco Model 70

PHILCO'S model 70 superheterodyne when recently measured in our laboratory gave the overall performance curves printed on this page.

For receiver input, the signal generator was coupled to the antenna by the manufacturer with the receiver as standard equipment were used, the volume control was adjusted for maximum receiver sensitivity, and no changes were made in the factory alignment of tuned circuits. An average sensitivity of 10.8 microvolts column 3 are the band widths measured from them, given in tabular form.

At the bottom of the page is the complete schematic wiring diagram of the model 70. Required tubes are seen to be, a 224 r-f, 224 first detecircuit through the dummy antenna standard of 20 uh, 200 uuf and 25 ohms. A non-inductive load resistance of 7000 ohms was connected across the output circuit to match the correct operating impedance of the single 247 output pentode. The output indicating voltmeter, which read the standard level of .05 watts, was capacitively coupled to the plate. The voice coil circuit was opened to prevent any error due to reflection of secondary circuit impedance on the primary circuit.

An a-c line voltage of 118 volts gave the receiver a drain of .75 amperes. In all tests, tubes as furnished absolute was measured from the curve of column 1. This value corresponds to 2.7 microvolts per meter when using a standard four-meter antenna. The maximum noise level of 14.5 per cent was found at 800 and 1000 kc and the minimum of 9 per cent at 600 and 1400 kc. With the receiver adjusted to 1000 kc, the resultant image ratio was 8900. In column 2 the power overload curve gives a maximum audio output of 4.32 watts, which figure disregards the harmonics produced in the output wave form. Below the selectivity curves of 10r, 227 oscillator, 224 second i-f, 224 second detector, 247 power pentode, and a 280 full wave rectifier for high voltage supply to the receiver. A choke unit tuned for hum elimination by a .09 mfd condenser is used as a series unit in the plus B side with the speaker field in series with the bleeder circuit.

Band Widths

Times Field Strength	Kilocycles width
	600 kc.	1000 kc.	1400 kc.

100	19	25.5	32
